

How can I know if my children's Halloween candy is infected with anthrax?

There are many things you can do to help ensure that your child has a safe and happy Halloween. The FDA has put together a list of recommendations that may reduce risks associated with the tampering of food and candy. These recommendations can be found online at www.fda.gov/oc/opacom/kids/candyandtreats.html. CDC also provides many useful tips for other areas of Halloween safety at www.cdc.gov/safeusa/halloween.htm.
